PADI Divemaster / Technical Divemaster

I was first interested in diving as a kid watching Johnny Quest. Growing up at the beach, I got a job at Dive N' Surf washing the wetsuits in the Rental Department and was certified before I could drive. It was not until being denied a 90' dive in Florida due my Open Water Certification that I decided to further my diving credentials. Once I started, it has been continuous training ever since. The only thing that limits my diving now is the money in my pockets. If I were independently wealthy, I would be on expedition year round. When needed, I assist Technical Dive Teams as a safety and support diver.

Terry's Diving Experience

Southern / Northern California including Catalina Island, Santa Cruz, Santa Rosa, Anacapa, San Clemente as well as many beaches up and down the coast. Cave diving in Florida and Quintana Roo, Mexico. Reef diving in Hawaii, Maui & Molokai, Florida, Cozumel and Quintana Roo, Mexico

Teaching Experience

NSS-CDS Cave Diver      Advanced Cave DPV      NAUI Trimix II

Equipment Specialist

Trimix Gas Blender Technician, Oxygen Technician, PSI Cylinder Inspector.

Special Achievements

Terence is a father of one. He holds a MCSE with a BSIT and consults small businesses including Dive N Surf.

Diving Philosophy

Make every dive count for something to bring your skill set up. I am a huge subscriber of muscle memory and tend to practice things at the end of my dive. Some may consider it work, but I like it.
